Ultra Flo™ Ultra Bond Clear Topcoats

Ultra Flo™ Ultra Bond Clear Topcoats are formulated to repair difficult to coat surfaces, such as UV finishes and 2 component Polyurethanes. These coatings are normally cross-linked films that develop a very hard, durable finish with a high surface tension, thus making it difficult for the liquid coating to form a film and cure on the surface. Most repair coatings will not adhere to the surface of these films or flow out without leaving a "halo" effect.

Mohawk's new Ultra Flo™ Ultra Bond Clear topcoat addresses the issues of adhesion and flow better than any other aerosol topcoat available. But, due to the fact that the coating being repaired is not re-softened by the application of a clear topcoat, the applied topcoat lays on the surface and may not completely blend-in around the edges of the area sprayed.

To assist in blending in the area that has been repaired it is recommended that Ultra Flo™ Ultra Bond be used in conjunction with Mohawk's No Blush™ Blender Flat.

How To Use

Immediately following the application of the Ultra Flo™ Ultra Bond Clear Topcoat, spray the No Blush™ Blender Flat liberally on the outside edges of the sprayed area. The No Blush™ Blender Flat should completely cover the edges, overlapping the edges approximately 2" on both sides. It is not necessary to spray the center area of the applied topcoat. The No Blush™ Blender Flat will allow the edges to layout and blend into the surrounding surface without changing the sheen of the applied topcoat or coating being repaired. No Blush™ Blender Flat will completely evaporate from the surface without affecting the surface coating. No Blush™ Blender Flat can be used on each successive coat used to repair the surface.
